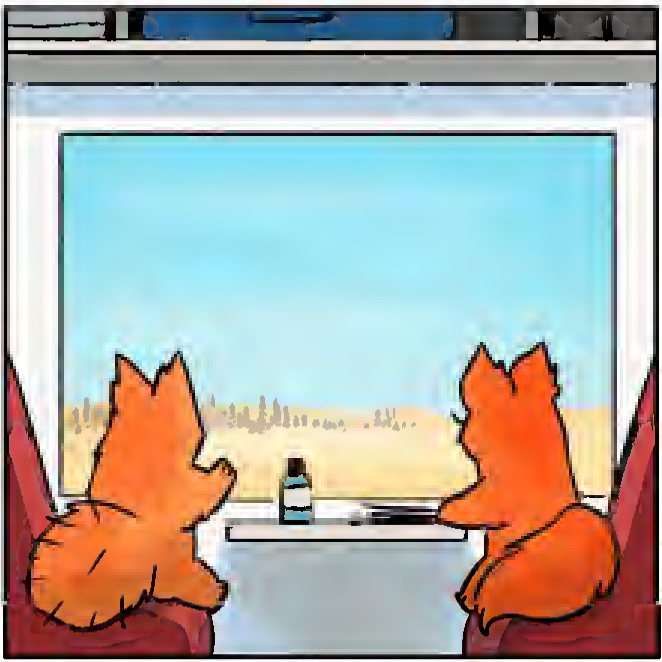
ROAR STREET JOURNAL

Sandy Arabbita is a kingdom of sand.



Not only is the city surrounded by desert,

it also has as much money as the sand.

The country becomes rich after the end of the war and the discovery of oil.

All animals in Sandy Arabbita are also sand-colored.

I didn't expect so many foxes here...how can we find our brother among them?
There are so few foxes back in Animerica!

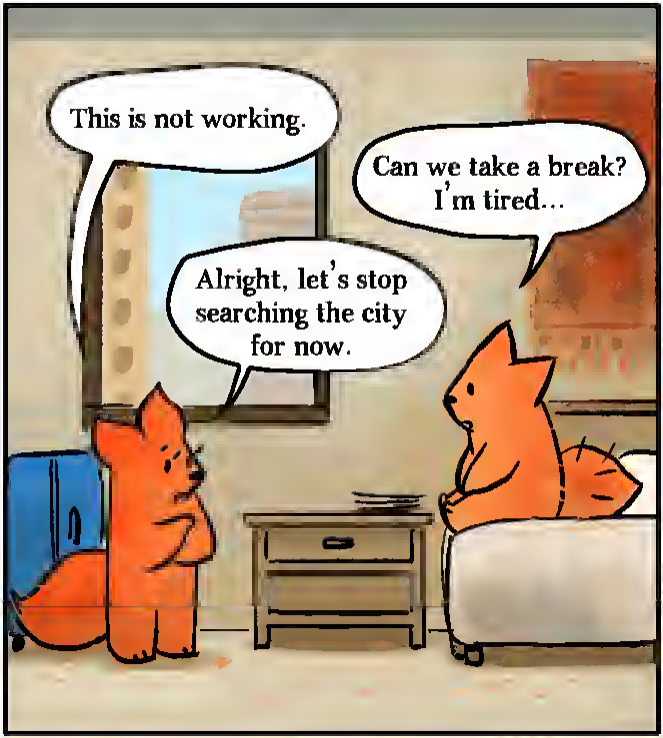
They looked in the markets.

They looked in the streets.

They looked in the mosques.

They spend a month in the city and found nothing.

They also shed their winter fur.



This is not working.
Can we take a break? I'm tired...
Alright, let's stop searching the city for now.

To save money,

they hitchhiked to their next destination.

5km

In the middle of the journey,

Foxy fell sick and developed a high fever.

Where is the nearest hospital?
Water...
We are close to the city, we can get you to doctors there

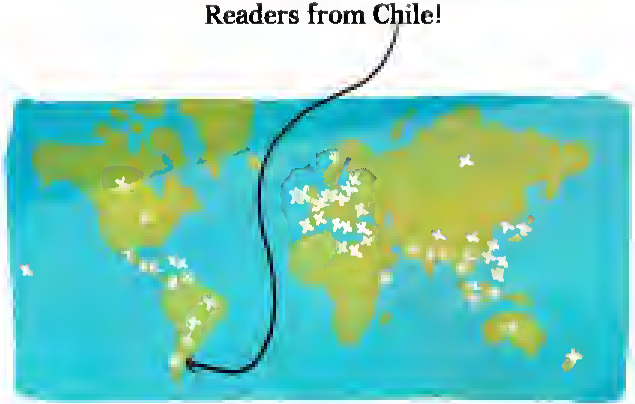
We got to hurry up before the storm catches us!
Storm?

Sandstorm!
This is the kingdom of sand!

ROAR STREET JOURNAL

Manuel Millan

Im from chile, south america, our national animals are the huemul (it's like a dear), the condor and in the most south part of chile there is a place called, chiloe's big island. there is one of the tiniest deers of the world, its named pudu.



Readers from Chile!

The Huemul is also known as the South Andean Deer. They are shy and docile animals who live alone or in small groups, andy are currently endangered. The Huemul is also part of Chile's National Coat of Arms.